Loretta is a successful small business consultant who made her mark helping small businesses and multi-million dollar enterprises while serving as a senior executive at the Greater Dallas Hispanic Chamber of Commerce. She previously worked 80-hour weeks as a Democratic policy analyst in the state legislature, where she put herself front-and-center of the business community connecting small businesses to new opportunities, writing business plans, and bringing people together to plan for Texas' economic future. She is running in a swing district, where the Republican incumbent won by only 19 votes in 2008. Victory in House District 105 is necessary for Democrats to win a majority in the Texas House of Representatives and have a role in the important Federal redistricting of 2011. That's why Loretta has won numerous endorsements including the Dallas Morning News, Annie's List, Dallas County Young Democrats and has the support of members of the Texas and Dallas Trial Lawyers Associations.
