In 2008, Carol beat a 20 year incumbent in a highly targeted race. In addition to her volunteer work, Carol has a 20 year career in higher education working as a teacher and administrator in both private and public institutions. It was this wealth of experience and deep knowledge of the challenges facing Texas families that Carol brought to the Legislature. Carol now faces a tough re-election in a race that is a "must hold" if Democrats are to gain the majority in 2010.
